Well, tomorrow I'm off to Minneapolis for the 2008 installation of cf.Objective\(\) . As I mentioned previously , cf.Objective() is the only conference that I attend. I will try to blog about the sessions I'm in, but I make no promises. Of course, if it's a really boring session, I should be able to make lots of posts. ;-)

Thanks to Steven Hauer, Jared Rypka-Hauer, Sean Corfield , and the rest of the cf.Objective() team for putting together yet another spectacular lineup of speakers and topics. I am actually looking forward to this year's conference even more than I did last year. I am especially looking forward to the ColdBox Framework workshop with Luis Majano . Should be a great time digging in deep with what I feel is the best MVC framework around right now.

Anyways, if you're at cf.Objective() this weekend, look me up. My guess is that I'll be in/near the bar. ;-)
