I have just released cfUniForm v3.5, which can be downloaded from the riaforge project page . This latest version includes a couple of minor bug fixes as well as a new 'enctype' attribute for your form tag, which allows you to create your own upload fields without relying on the built-in type="file" field.

Be sure to check out the new multiple uploads demo as well as the updated FAQs page .

A big "thank you!" goes to Byron Raines for providing the use case for the multiple uploads (one I had not thought of) as well as submitting a couple of patches for bugs (related to providing an ID for individual fields).
